Professional Capabilities Framework for Social Work in England The 2018 Refreshed PCF

Experienced Social Worker

Social Workers at experienced level are skilled, effective practitioners acting with considerable autonomy. They are likely to have in depth knowledge and skill in one or more fields of practice which may have been developed through a formal post-qualifying training and development activity. They may undertake Practice Educator training and take student social workers. They may have a postgraduate qualification and role in specialised practice e.g. AMHP, BIA. They may have a largely autonomous role as sole or lead practitioners in a team or service. They have developed capability to integrate professional knowledge, the views of people using services and research/evaluation evidence routinely in their practice. They demonstrate expert and effective practice in complex situations, assessing and managing higher levels of risk while promoting enablement and self-determination. They network and liaise with a wider range of professionals and other colleagues, including at more senior or strategic levels. They manage complex caseloads and offer expert opinion within the organisation and to others.

They undertake capacity-building with individuals, families, communities, user groups and voluntary organisations, and contribute their views on service provision to commissioners. They apply, promote and uphold the Code of Ethics and demonstrate to other their ongoing development in all domains of the PCF. They develop their capability to integrate professional knowledge, the perspectives of people using services and research/evaluation evidence in their practice.

They may undertake complex tasks such as chairing significant meetings, offering expert support and advice to case conferences, producing high quality and more specialised assessments and reports for a range of functions, undertaking local peer audits of quality. They model good practice, setting expectations for others. They start to take responsibility and accountability for the practice of others e.g. mentoring newly qualified social workers and supervising the work of more junior staff.

PROFESSIONALISM - Identify and behave as a professional social worker, committed to professional development

Social Workers are members of an internationally recognised profession. Our title is protected in UK law. We demonstrate professional commitment by taking responsibility for our conduct, practice, self-care and development. We seek and use supervision and other professional support. We promote excellent practice, and challenge circumstances that compromise this. As representatives of the profession, we safeguard its reputation. We are accountable to people using services, the public, employers and the regulator. We take ethical decisions in the context of multiple accountabilities.

I....

- am able to meet the requirements of the professional regulator

- aim to be a role model for social work, set expectations for others and contribute to the public face of the organisation and/or profession
- apply in practice and promote my understanding of social work as an international profession with a global definition supporting my professional identity, ethics and practice with diverse communities in England
- expect and seek supervision that covers practice, organisational, leadership and management aspects of role, applying critical reflection throughout
- model and help others to demonstrate professionalism and excellent practice
- model and help others with effective workload management skills
- model and help others to maintain professional/personal boundaries and skilled use of self
- aware of my own professional limitations and knowledge gaps and seek to continuously develop across all domains of the PCF.
- establish a network of internal and external colleagues from whom to seek advice and expertise
- contribute to creating and sustaining a learning environment for self, team and colleagues within and beyond social work. I may undertake Practice Educator training. (see also capability 9)
- recognise and seek ways to promote well-being and self-care for team and colleagues
- promote up to date standards of excellent practice, identifying and helping resolve poor practice and promoting continuous improvement.
- understand my accountabilities and the dilemmas that can arise in complex contexts. I ensure the welfare, experience and outcomes of people using services are at the heart of my practice and decisions

2. VALUES AND ETHICS – Apply Social Work ethical principles and values to guide professional practices

Social Workers have an obligation to conduct themselves and make decisions in accordance with our Code of Ethics. This includes working in partnership with people who use our services.

We promote human rights and social justice. We develop and maintain our understanding of the value base of our profession throughout our career, its ethical standards and relevant law

I...

- demonstrate confident and critical application of professional ethical principles (using the Code of Ethics) to decision-making and practice, supporting others to do so using a legal and human rights framework
- model and support others to reflect on and manage the influence and impact of own values on professional practice and the skilled use of self
- provide guidance and support to analyse, reflect on and work with ethical dilemmas
- ensure my practice is underpinned by commitment to working in partnership with people who use services, carers, families, communities and networks, wherever possible. I negotiate and establish boundaries to underpin such partnership, using transparency and honesty.

- promote service user and carer participation in developing service delivery.
- promote and advance wherever possible individual's rights to autonomy and self-determination, providing support, guidance and challenge to others to promote human and citizenship rights and entitlements
- demonstrate skills in the sensitive exploration of issues of confidentiality, privacy and information-sharing in complex or risky situations, offering support and guidance to colleagues in managing such dilemmas.

3. DIVERSITY AND EQUALITY – Recognise diversity and apply anti-discriminatory and anti-oppressive principles in practice

Social Workers understand that diversity characterises and shapes human experience and is critical to the formation of identity. Diversity is multi-dimensional and includes race, disability, class, economic status, age, sexuality, gender (including transgender), faith and belief, and the intersection of these and other characteristics. We understand that because of difference, and perception of difference, a person's life experience may include oppression, marginalisation and alienation as well as privilege, power and acclaim. We identify this and promote equality.

I...

- inform, guide and model good practice in the application of understanding of identity, diversity and equality to practice; identifying and taking up issues when principles and legal requirements are contravened in my organisation or work setting
- model critically reflective practice and support others to recognise and challenge discrimination, identifying and taking professional action (individually or collectively) to challenge breaches and limitations in the ability of my own or others' organisations' to advance equality and diversity and comply with the law
- demonstrate and model the effective and positive use of power and authority, whilst recognising and providing guidance to others to avoid oppressive practice.

4. RIGHTS, JUSTICE AND ECONOMIC WELLBEING – Advance human rights and promote social justice and economic wellbeing

Social workers recognise and promote the fundamental principles of human rights, social justice and economic wellbeing enshrined in national and international laws, conventions and policies. These principles underpin our practice and we use statutory and case law effectively in our work. We understand and address the effects of oppression, discrimination and poverty. Wherever possible, we work in partnership with people using services, their carers and families, to challenge inequality and injustice, and promote strengths, agency, hope and self-determination.

I...

- provide guidance and challenge to others about applying the principles of social justice, social inclusion and equality to decision-making

- demonstrate ability to interpret and use current legislation and guidance to protect and/or advance people’s rights and entitlements, balancing use of different legislation to achieve the best outcomes; support colleagues (both inside and outside the organisation) to do so
- am able to communicate legislative issues to other professionals and agencies
- model best practice in applying human and civil rights, providing support to others and challenge where required
- support others to enable individuals to access opportunities that may enhance their economic status (e.g. education, work, housing, health services and welfare benefits)
- promote access to independent advocacy, ensuring best practice and critical review, and contribute to the evaluation of independent advocacy.
- promote, and guide colleagues to support strengths, agency, hope and self-determination in people using services, carers, families and communities. Support them in raising their own challenges and finding solutions to inequality, social injustice and rights violations.

5. KNOWLEDGE – Develop and apply relevant knowledge from social work practice and research, social sciences, law, other professional and relevant fields, and from the experience of people who use services

We develop our professional knowledge throughout our careers and sustain our curiosity. As a unified profession, we develop core knowledge that relates to our purpose, values and ethics. We also develop specific knowledge needed for fields of practice and roles. Our knowledge comes from social work practice, theory, law, research, expertise by experience, and from other relevant fields and disciplines. All social workers contribute to creating as well as using professional knowledge. We understand our distinctive knowledge complements that of other disciplines to provide effective services.

I...

- develop knowledge in one or more specialist areas of my practice. I continue to expand and consolidate my knowledge to inform connections between my specialisms and other settings or fields of practice
- demonstrate knowledge and application of appropriate legal and policy frameworks and guidance that inform and mandate social work practice. Apply legal reasoning, using professional legal expertise and advice appropriately, recognising where scope for professional judgement exists
- demonstrate, apply to practice and advise colleagues on a working knowledge of human growth and development throughout the life course
- recognise the short and long-term impact of psychological, socio-economic, environmental and physiological factors on people’s lives, taking into account age and development, and how this informs practice
- understand the value of systemic approaches and how they can be used to work with a person or family in their environment, social context and relationships, and inform my practice and that of others

- have an advanced understanding of the centrality of relationships for people’s wellbeing and how to apply key concepts of attachment, separation, loss, change and resilience
- apply my understanding of forms of harm and their impact on people, and the implications for practice, drawing on concepts of strength, resilience, vulnerability, risk and resistance, and apply to practice
- demonstrate a critical knowledge of the range of theories and models for social work intervention with individuals, families, groups and communities, and the methods derived from them, and have a more specialised understanding of models and approaches most critical to work setting or role
- demonstrate and apply a critical understanding of social welfare policy, its evolution, implementation and impact on people, social work, other professions, and inter-agency working
- recognise the contribution and develop application of research and other evidence (e.g. practice evidence and evidence from experts by experience) to inform and improve my practice
- demonstrate a critical understanding of research and evaluation methods
- value and take account of the expertise of service users, carers and professionals and seek their feedback on my practice/role
- confidently apply knowledge and understanding of the opportunities and risks of new technologies, digital resources, online communications, virtual environments and social media in Social Work.

6. CRITICAL REFLECTION AND ANALYSIS – Apply critical reflection and analysis to inform and provide a rationale for professional decision-making

Social workers critically reflect on their practice, use analysis, apply professional judgement and reasoned discernment. We identify, evaluate and integrate multiple sources of knowledge and evidence. We continuously evaluate our impact and benefit to service users. We use supervision and other support to reflect on our work and sustain our practice and wellbeing. We apply our critical reflective skills to the context and conditions under which we practise. Our reflection enables us to challenge ourselves and others, and maintain our professional curiosity, creativity and self-awareness.

I...

- routinely and effectively apply critical reflection and analysis to increasingly complex cases
- draw on a wide range of evidence sources to inform decision making
- ensure hypotheses and options are reviewed to inform judgement and decision making
- demonstrate confidence and skills to provide professional opinion to social workers and other professionals.
- apply and encourage in others use of imagination, creativity and curiosity in practice, exploring options to solve dilemmas and problems. Involve people who use services in reflections and creativity wherever possible

7. SKILLS AND INTERVENTIONS - Use judgement, knowledge and authority to intervene with individuals, families and communities to promote independence, provide support, prevent harm and enable progress.

Social workers engage with individuals, families, and communities, working alongside people to determine their needs and wishes, and what action may be helpful. We build productive working relationships and communicate effectively. Using our professional judgement, we employ appropriate interventions, promoting self-determination, support, protection and positive change. We develop and maintain skills relevant to our roles. We understand and take account of power differentials and use our authority appropriately. We evaluate our own practice and its impact, and how we improve outcomes for those we work with.

I...

- communicate skilfully and confidently in complex or high risk situations. I model and help others to develop excellent communication skills in diverse contexts
- sustain and model engagement with people in fluctuating circumstances and capacities, including where there are negative responses, rejection of help, hostility and risk
- be able to gather information quickly and effectively so as to inform judgement for interventions including in crises, and in response to challenge, or in the absence of complete/sufficient information
- use assessment procedures discerningly to inform judgement
- maintain and expand a range of frameworks for assessment and intervention
- demonstrate skilled use of a range of frameworks for assessment and intervention
- actively support, initiate and co-produce community groups and networks for the benefit of people using services, carers and families.
- support the development of professional groups and networks
- contribute to the development of my organisation's information strategy and systems
- model and help others with appropriate information sharing
- model and help others to manage changing circumstances
- recognise and appropriately manage the authority inherent in your position
- anticipate, assess and manage risk, including in more complex cases, and support others to develop risk management skills
- undertake assessment and planning for safeguarding in more complex cases, and help others with safeguarding skills.

8. CONTEXTS AND ORGANISATIONS - Engage with, inform, and adapt to changing organisational contexts, and the social and policy environments that shape practice.

Operate

effectively within and contribute to the development of organisations and services, including multi-agency and inter-professional settings.

Social workers are informed about and pro-actively respond to the challenges and opportunities that come from changing social, policy and work contexts. We fulfil this responsibility in accordance with our professional values and ethics, as individual and collective professionals and as members of the organisations in which we work.

We collaborate, inform and are informed by our work with other social workers, other professions, individuals and communities.

I...

- keep abreast of changing policy, political and professional contexts at local and national level, and take account of these in practice and my workplace
- work effectively within my own organisation, and identify and influence relationships between my organisation's culture and procedures, the demands of practice and wider changes in my context (e.g. changes in local communities and wider society)
- work to and explain the relevant legal structures in the organisation, including basic case law; know when and how to access support and appropriate legal advice and consultation
- explore, identify and communicate to supervisors, leaders and managers how organisational practice can improve to support better social work practice and citizen outcomes
- keep abreast of changing roles and services in the organisation, recognise, value and engage with other specialist perspectives
- am confident about your role in the team, working positively with others. I draw on and contribute to team working and collaborative support wherever possible and provide social work advice to support colleagues' practice.
- take an active role in inter-professional and inter-agency work, building own network and collaborative working.

9. PROFESSIONAL LEADERSHIP – Promote the profession and good social work practice. Take responsibility for the professional learning and development of others. Develop personal influence and be part of the collective leadership and impact of the profession.

We develop and show our leadership, individually and collectively, through promoting social work's purpose, practices and impact. We achieve this through diverse activities which may include: advancing practice; supervising; educating others; research; evaluation; using innovation and creativity; writing; using social media positively; being active in professional networks and bodies; contributing to policy; taking formal leadership/management roles. We promote organisational contexts conducive to good practice and learning. We work in partnership with people who use services and stakeholders in developing our leadership and aims for the profession.

I...

- contribute to professional and organisational developments in my context, including developing skills to evaluate the value new and existing models and interventions
- promote and develop social work's purpose, practice and impact within my organisation, with colleagues including those of other disciplines, and more widely where appropriate
- play a leading role in practice development in the team and help sustain a learning culture

- provide supervision to colleagues as required and appropriate, continuing to develop supervisory skills. Support others to manage and prioritise work
- assess and manage the work of social work students and ASYE
- may undertake Practice Educator training Standards Stage 2: Domain B and C
- contribute to collective/collaborative professional leadership through. participating in or initiating purposeful (e.g.) peer support, social work forums, involvement in professional organisations and meetings within and/or outside
- seek, plan and undertake ongoing professional development and use diverse platforms and opportunities for learning within and outside my organisation/work setting.
